Single storey garden room and workshop in rear garden to replace existing single storey garage.

6 Ancona Rise, Darfield, Barnsley, S73 9PS

Site Description

The application relates to a detached bungalow sited to the eastern side of Ancona Rise, Darfield. The dwelling is a single storey building, rendered to the front elevation with elements of brick. There is an area of hardstanding to the side elevation for parking and a car port. To the front of the dwelling there is a brick wall enclosing the front garden. The dwelling currently benefits from a single storey brick built garage to the rear garden which is to be demolished and replaced by the proposed garden room and workshop.

Planning History

No relevant history.

Proposed Development

The application is for a certificate of lawfulness for the erection of a single storey garden room and workshop in the rear garden at 6 Ancona Rise, under Section 192 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990. Section 192 (1) provides that if any person wishes to ascertain whether any operations proposed to be carried out in, on, over or under land, would be lawful, may make an application for the purpose to the local planning authority specifying the land and describing the use or operations in question. Section 192(4) then provides that if, on an application under this section, the local planning authority are provided with information satisfying them that the use or operations described in the application would be lawful if instituted or begun at the time of the application, they shall issue a certificate to that effect; and in any other case shall refuse the application.

The proposed outbuilding will be located to the rear garden. The outbuilding is a L shape and measures 6.42m in maximum depth, 7.06m in maximum width and 2.5m in maximum height above the highest ground level with a flat roof. The building would have a single door and two window facing onto the south elevation and a set of bi-fold doors to the west elevation. The building would be constructed from composite cladding.

Planning Context

The Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015 allows householders to extend their property provided certain criteria is met. Under Class E of Part 1 of Schedule 2 of this act, development is permitted for the provision within the curtilage of the dwellinghouse of:

- a) any building or enclosure, swimming or other pool required for a purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse as such, or the maintenance, improvement or other alteration of such a building or enclosure; or

- b) a container used for domestic heating purposes for the storage of oil or liquid petroleum gas.

Development is not permitted by Class E if:

- a) permission to use the dwellinghouse as a dwellinghouse has been granted only by virtue of Class M, N, P or Q of Part 3 of this Schedule (changes of use);
- b) the total area of ground covered by buildings, enclosures and containers within the curtilage (other than the original dwellinghouse) would exceed 50% of the total area of the curtilage (excluding the ground area of the original dwellinghouse);
- c) any part of the building, enclosure, pool or container would be situated on land forward of a wall forming the principal elevation of the original dwellinghouse;
- d) the building would have more than a single storey;
- e) the height of the building, enclosure or container would exceed —
 - (i) 4 metres in the case of a building with a dual-pitched roof,
 - (ii) 2.5 metres in the case of a building, enclosure or container within 2 metres of the boundary of the curtilage of the dwellinghouse, or
 - (iii) 3 metres in any other case;
- f) the height of the eaves of the building would exceed 2.5 metres;
- g) the building, enclosure, pool or container would be situated within the curtilage of a listed building;
- h) it would include the construction or provision of a veranda, balcony or raised platform;
- i) it relates to a dwelling or a microwave antenna; or
- j) the capacity of the container would exceed 3,500 litres.
- k) the dwellinghouse is built under Part 20 of this Schedule (construction of new dwellinghouses).

There are other limitations on the permitted development rights for outbuildings; however, these do not apply to the application site.

For the purposes of Class E, a purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse includes the keeping of poultry, bees, pet animals, birds or other livestock for the domestic needs or personal enjoyment of the occupants of the dwellinghouse.

Other examples include common buildings such as garden sheds, other storage buildings, garages, and garden decking as long as they can properly be described as having a purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the house.

A purpose incidental to a house would not, however, cover normal residential uses, such as separate self-contained accommodation or the use of an outbuilding for primary living accommodation such as a bedroom, bathroom, or kitchen. This is set out in the supporting text of the 'Permitted development rights for householders – Technical Guidance’, a supplementary document to the General Permitted Development Order 2015.

Assessment

The outbuilding’s footprint is below 50% of the total area of the curtilage (excluding the ground area of the original dwellinghouse); the host property is not listed; the position of the outbuilding is not situated on land forward of a wall forming the principal elevation of the original dwellinghouse and the building conforms to the maximum height of 2.5m, from the highest existing ground level, for outbuildings within 2m of the curtilage of the dwellinghouse. As such, the outbuilding is in accordance with Class E of Schedule 2, Part 1 of the GPDO.

Buildings under Class E should be built for purposes incidental to the enjoyment of the house. The GPDO technical guidance states that a use incidental to the enjoyment of the dwelling house includes keeping of pets and other animals for personal enjoyment or domestic need of the occupants of the dwelling, as well as outbuildings such as sheds, garages etc. that are for a purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse.

The applicants have listed the following uses for the building;

- Garden room
- Workshop.

The above uses are considered incidental to the enjoyment of the house.
