

All the way through this planning process we have raised questions about how this development will negatively impact the already poor air quality around the site. The removal of natural hedgerows, trees and farm land can only be detrimental to both the air quality and the habitats of the wildlife in the area. The health of local residents will suffer. Has anything been put in place to reduce this impact and improve the air quality in the area rather than reduce it further?