Introduction:

This application seeks full planning permission for the erection of a single storey front extension to dwelling.

Relevant Site Characteristics

The site occupies a good sized plot within a residential housing estate. The surrounding area predominantly comprises detached and semi-detached dwellings of a similar age displaying simple modest architecture. Within this street scene is a prevalence of brick with horizontal board cladding resulting in visual consistency.

The host dwelling is a detached buff brick dwelling with horizontal white pvc cladding on the frontage and is designed with a pitched roof. The property is set back from the road with a wide sloping driveway which provides off street parking for the property. The property is bound by low walls along each side boundary.

The property has an existing single storey front extension, gable fronting with a bay window providing a dining room with an attached canopy occupying the front elevation of the rest of the property. The front canopy provides shelter for the entrance door.

Detailed description of Proposed Works

The proposal is to erect a single storey front porch extension to the property. The extension will project in line with the existing front projection and replace the existing canopy. The extension will be in matching brick and tile and will have a lean to roof style with roof lights on the front elevation. A small bay window will be located along the front adjacent to a new entrance door.

The Development Plan

Section 38(6) of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 requires proposals to be determined in accordance with the development plan unless material considerations indicate otherwise. The development plan for Barnsley consists of the Barnsley Local Plan (adopted January 2019).

The Local Plan review was approved at the full Council meeting held 24th November 2022. The review determined that the Local Plan remains fit for purpose and is adequately delivering its objectives. This means, no updates to the Local Plan, in whole or in part, are to be carried out ahead of a further review. The next review is due to take place in 2027, or earlier, if circumstances require it.

The following Local Plan policies are relevant in this case:

- Policy SD1: Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development.
- Policy D1: High Quality Design and Place Making.
- Policy GD1: General Development.
- Policy T4: New Development and Transport Safety

National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) and the National Planning Practice Guidance

In December 2024, The Government published a revised National Planning Policy Framework ("NPPF") which is the most recent revision of the original Framework, published first in 2012 and updated a number of times, providing the overarching planning framework for England. It sets out the Government's planning policies for England and how they are expected to be applied. The NPPF must be taken into account in the preparation of local and neighbourhood plans and is a material consideration in planning decisions. This revised document has replaced the earlier planning policy statements, planning policy guidance and various policy letters and circulars, which are now cancelled.

Central to the NPPF is a presumption in favour of sustainable development which is at the heart of the framework (paragraph 10) and plans and decisions should apply this presumption in favour of sustainable development (paragraph 11). The NPPF confirms that there are three dimensions to sustainable development: economic, social, and environmental; each of these aspects are mutually dependent. The most relevant sections are:

Paragraph 2 states that planning law requires applications for planning permission to be determined in accordance with the development plan unless material considerations indicate otherwise.

Section 2 - Achieving sustainable development.

Paragraph 7 states that the purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development. At a very high level, the objective of sustainable development can be summarised as meeting the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs.

Paragraph 8 provides three overarching objectives to sustainability, social, environmental, and economic. Paragraph 10 states to ensure that sustainable development is pursued in a positive way, at the heart of the Framework is a presumption in favour of sustainable development.

Section 4 - Decision making

Paragraph 48 affirms that planning law requires applications for planning permission to be determined in accordance with the development plan unless material considerations indicate otherwise. Decisions on applications should be made as quickly as possible, and within statutory timescales unless a longer period has been agreed by the applicant in writing.

Section 12 - Achieving well-designed places.

Paragraph 131 states that the creation of high quality, beautiful and sustainable buildings and places is fundamental to what the planning and development process should achieve. Good design is a key aspect of sustainable development, creates better places in which to live and work and helps make development acceptable to communities.

Paragraph 135 provides details to ensure that developments function well, are visually attractive, sympathetic to local character and optimise the potential of the site.

Paragraph 139 expresses that development that is not well designed should be refused, especially where it fails to reflect local design policies and government guidance on design, taking into account any local design guidance and supplementary planning documents such as design guides and codes.

The National Design Guidance (2019) is a material consideration and sets out ten characteristics of well-designed places based on planning policy expectations. A written ministerial statement states that local planning authorities should take it into account when taking decisions.

Supplementary Planning Guidance

In line with the Town and Country Planning (Local Planning) (England) Regulations 2012, Barnsley has adopted twenty eight Supplementary Planning Documents (SPDs) following the adoption of the Local Plan in January 2019. The most pertinent SPD's in this case are:

- House extensions and other domestic alterations
- Parking

The adopted SPDs should be treated as material considerations in decision making and are afforded full weight.

Consultations

The application has been advertised in accordance with Article 15 of the Town and Country Planning Development Management Procedure (England) Order 2015.

Any neighbour sharing a boundary with the site has been sent written notification and the application has been advertised on the Council website.

No representations have been received.

Planning Assessment

For the purposes of considering the balance in this application, the following planning weight is referred to in this report using the following scale:

- Substantial
- Considerable
- Significant
- Moderate
- Modest
- Limited
- Little or no

Principle

Paragraph 2 of the NPPF states that planning law requires applications for planning permission to be determined in accordance with the development plan unless material considerations indicate otherwise.

The site falls within urban fabric. Extensions and alterations to a domestic property are acceptable in principle provided that they remain subsidiary to the host dwelling, are of a scale and design which is appropriate to the host property and are not detrimental to the amenity afforded to adjacent properties.

Scale, Design and Impact on the Character

Paragraph 131 of the NPPF states that good design is a key aspect of sustainable development, creates better places in which to live and work and helps make development acceptable to communities. Paragraph 135 emphasises that development should be visually attractive and sympathetic to the local character of the area.

Paragraph 139 expresses that development that is not well designed should be refused, especially where it fails to reflect local design policies and government guidance on design, taking into account any local design guidance and supplementary planning documents such as design guides and codes.

Local design guidance SPD: House Extensions indicates how important it is that any extension is designed to be in keeping with the host property and the character of the neighbourhood. The front elevation is most important as it plays an integral contribution to the street scene. A high standard of design is expected to ensure any front extension does not detract from the quality of the existing dwelling. The roof styling and pitch should match those of the existing dwelling, along with matching materials.

The proposed front extension is small in scale and will continue the building line across the front of the property. This type of development is commonplace within the immediate locality, resulting in the proposal harmonising not only with the host property but also within its surroundings. The matching materials, new bay window and design of the roof will ensure the proposal compliments the host property.

The proposal as it stands meets the consensus of the NPPF and is in compliance with SPD: House Extensions and Other Domestic Alterations and Policy D1 of the Local Plan which expects development to be of high quality design and respect distinctive local character and local features.

Significant weight has been given to the design and impact on the character of the area.

Impact on Neighbouring Amenity

SPD: House Extensions provides expectations in relation to the size of proposals. Extensions to the rear of detached dwellings will be considered on their design merits and where no adjacent properties are affected. The proposed extension will be located close to the boundary with the adjoining dwelling. The impact to this property needs to be closely addressed.

The proposed extension will project 1.7m to the front of the property in line with the existing forward projection. The neighbours on each side have existing front extensions similar to the proposal. There are no side facing windows on the neighbours extensions nor on the proposal. The property is detached, and it is noted that there is a reasonable gap in-between the properties. Overshadowing and loss of privacy from the proposed front extension is not expected to occur and is therefore not considered to be detrimental to the amenity currently enjoyed by the adjoining neighbours.

Taking into consideration the characteristics of the site, the proposal is not expected to cause any disproportionate harmful impact in terms of residential amenity. The application is therefore acceptable in terms of residential amenity in compliance with Local Plan Policy GD1 and D1.

Significant weight has been given to the impact on residential amenity.

Highways

Whilst the proposals increase the floor space of the dwelling, the number of bedrooms remains as existing. Off-street parking is retained for at least two vehicles within the front garden, and the garage accommodation will remain unchanged.

As such, the scheme is acceptable from a highways development control perspective in compliance with Local Plan Policy T4 New development and Transport Safety.

Moderate weight has been given to highway safety.

Planning Balance and Conclusion

For the reasons given above, and taking all other matters into consideration, the proposal complies with the relevant plan policies and planning permission should be granted subject to necessary conditions. Under the provisions of the NPPF, the application is considered to be a sustainable form of development and is therefore recommended for approval.

RECOMMENDATION: Approve subject to conditions
