Legend

shows the property and the land on the 1/1/2009. whilst the quality of this picture is poor it does show a few things that show that our use of the land as an access and a car park began at approximately this time. the gate has been completely removed, the pile of rubble has gone and in its place is a new concrete driveway, also the grassed area shows signs of being worn away directly in front of the open driveway which all indicates this point being used as an access to our garage from the land in question. it could also be argued that the image shows a dark vehicle that is either about to enter the driveway or had just exited from it. it could also be that it is a customer that has simply parked there in order to visit our business whatever the case this too points towards the land being used as an access. customer vehicles can also be seen parking in the parking area.
