

The planted margin along the Western boundary consists of some recently planted hardy shrubs, along with some native ground cover and grass. This is designed to soften the appearance of the pallisade fencing.

As this area tends to collect rubbish such as crisp packets blowing in from the playing fields adjacent, the owner has been diligent in using his own workforce to keep the area as litter-free as possible.

The planted margin along the southern boundary consists of a steep bank of scrubland approx 3m wide. The flora is largely bramble and self-established native shrubs and ground cover plants. The owner has been careful to maintain this border in its natural state, and has observed a large variety of wildlife including rabbits and many species of birds.

The position of the new store and workshop has been carefully designed to avoid any impact on this bank.
