

I am particularly concerned about this overall application going in with 'zero neighbours'? A few cursory posters scattered sparingly on lampposts around the local areas doesn't constitute a sufficiently detailed local consultation. I am also keen to understand how the loss of visual amenity will be addressed with landscaping and new trees etc, with the new roundabout and proposed industrial development directly opposite the houses at the top of Higham Common Road, which now appears to extend to the land between Hermit Lane and the new roundabout (this was previously identified as residential/green space). Please reconsider assigning the small parcel of land alongside the houses at the top of Hermit Lane back to green space.
