

This is a detailed architectural elevation drawing of a two-story residential building. The main structure is a two-story brick house with a dark grey tiled roof. On the left side, there is a chimney. The front facade features several windows: a large three-pane window on the ground floor, a smaller three-pane window on the first floor, and a small square window in the gable end. A white vertical pipe runs down the side of the house. To the right of the main house is a single-story extension with a flat roof, containing a front door with a small porch and a white garage door. The drawing uses a color palette of brown for the brick, dark grey for the roof, and white for the window frames and porch. The background is a solid light blue-grey color.
